

Auditor Holle

Player-facing description

A red-violet infernis auditor in immaculate black-and-bronze robes holds a dark ledger against her chest, seal ribbons and oath-medallions hanging from her collar like little verdicts.

Public role

The polite face of debt, proving that cruelty wears clean gloves.

Handout text

Player-safe note: A collections agent whose pleasant voice makes the ledger feel colder.

GM truth

She knows escalation can become worse than collection, and she keeps choosing not to picture it.

GM handling

Bring menace, debt pressure, or a social obstacle.

Mechanics

- Title: Social / Information Mechanics
- Player Safe: Players can interact, comfort, persuade, or earn trust Auditor Holle when it is present in the fiction.
- Gm Only: Use the roll only when the player's method, stakes, and consequence are concrete.
- No Roll Reveals: Surface read: A collections agent whose pleasant voice makes the ledger feel colder. Give obvious visible facts freely; roll for meaning, risk, leverage, cost, or a hidden angle.

Auditor Holle: a collections agent with a smile that never reaches the ledger
- Block1: Auditor Holle AW-dit-er HOL a collections agent with a smile that never reaches the ledger The polite face of debt, proving that cruelty wears clean gloves. A social antagonist who cannot be punched into leaving; she must be out-argued or outlasted. She believes perfect procedure absolves her, and a debtor who reminds her of her own old mercy can crack that belief. A way forward A grounded question A scene-specific clue seed Serene, courteous, and immovably on-process. A moment that forces her to see the person standing where the balance should be.
- Block2: Make the account balance without letting the human cost enter the room. Prove that perfect process can protect her from moral responsibility. Make the account balance without letting the human cost enter the room. Prove that perfect process can protect her from moral responsibility. Immaculate calm built as a wall against her own memory of once needing mercy. Polishes a closed-eye page weight before she speaks. Insists cruelty is merely inefficient, which is its own quiet kind of confession. I am not here for cruelty. Cruelty is inefficient. She knows escalation can become worse than collection, and she keeps choosing not to picture it. A debtor who makes her remember she once needed mercy. Exact figures, sealed receipts, soft voices, and procedural victories. Tears, improvisation, unpaid kindness, and forged stamps that work too well. Exact figures, sealed receipts, soft voices, and...
- Block3: She expects people to mistake politeness for softness. Logic and paperwork can corner her. Emotion bounces unless it creates public reputational risk. Presence 12 They give the useful clue, route, or concession without becoming the plot. She avoids direct combat; a valid form, public witness, or impossible audit contradiction forces retreat.
- Block4: One scene-level clue or route, phrased plainly. Goldwater-to-Soulspire debt escalation. Use this backup as a scene seed only: one clue, one pressure, one human face, then return agency to the PCs. Loyal to Goldwater because procedure has rewarded her for never looking below it. Goldwater-to-Soulspire debt escalation. Goldwater-to-Soulspire debt escalation. Any PC can engage; never make the plot depend on the summoned backup.
