

Nettle

Player-facing description

A young faun scout freezes with one hand raised, soft horns under a ragged hood, necklaces and leaf charms trembling against a patched vest.

Public role

A frightened Bramble scout who shows the camp is people, not bandits.

Handout text

Player-safe note: A frightened scout with forest mud on both knees and one eye always on the exits.

GM truth

Nettle can name who did not want the ambush to go violent.

GM handling

Humanize Bramble pressure or open a mercy lane.

Mechanics

- Title: Social / Information Mechanics
- Player Safe: Players can interact, comfort, persuade, or earn trust Nettle when it is present in the fiction.
- Gm Only: Use the roll only when the player's method, stakes, and consequence are concrete.
- No Roll Reveals: Surface read: A frightened scout with forest mud on both knees and one eye always on the exits. Give obvious visible facts freely; roll for meaning, risk, leverage, cost, or a hidden angle.
- Rolls: entity-nettle-engage-nettle entity-nettle Engage Nettle Engage Nettle Presence Knowledge Instinct Presence Knowledge, Instinct 12 Choose the trait from the player's method, not the entity type. A flat read of Nettle hides the cost, motive, or useful next step. Critical Success: best possible version of the action; gain Hope and clear 1 Stress. Add an extra benefit that follows from the fiction. Success with Hope: the PC gets what they wanted and gains Hope. Keep the position clean or generous. Success with Fear: the PC gets what they wanted, but the GM gains Fear and introduces a cost, complication, or pressure. Failure with Hope: the PC does not get the full result, but gains Hope and receives a useful thread, clue, or safer next option. Failure with Fear: the PC fails and the GM gains Fear. Make a hard move that follows from the fiction. A flat read of Nettle hides the cost, motive...
- Fear Spends: Reveal who benefits from the current situation. Make the cost personal without closing off player agency.

- Condition Options: No official condition unless the fiction calls for Hidden, Restrained, or Vulnerable
- Search Loot: Search focus: leaf charm necklace, patched vest, small satchel

- Block1: Nettle NET-ul a frightened forest scout trying not to be seen A frightened Bramble scout who shows the camp is people, not bandits. A non-violent encounter that tests mercy; how the party treats Nettle echoes through the whole Union. They are scouting, not attacking, and one act of cruelty here teaches them that mercy is foolish. A way forward A grounded question A scene-specific clue seed Cornered and trembling, desperate not to prove their own fears right. Mercy that visibly costs the party something, so it reads as real and not convenient.
- Block2: Get back to camp without proving mercy is foolish. Keep their people alive without learning to hate everyone outside the trees. Get back to camp without proving mercy is foolish. Keep their people alive without learning to hate everyone outside the trees. Soft-hearted and quick-footed, frozen between flight and trust. Rubs a seed-charm from home whenever a choice sounds like betrayal either way. Wants to keep their people alive without learning to hate everyone outside the trees. I am not the one who wanted blades first. Nettle can name who did not want the ambush to go violent. Being handed to officials, disappointing Kett, and watching the camp starve anyway. Gentle voices, clear promises, and food that is offered without a bargain first. Sudden movement, corporate badges, and adults calling fear weakness. - Block3: Nettle expects PCs to be kinder in voice than outcome. Gentleness and a no-handover promise land. Presence 12 after trust gives the Bramble side. Presence 12 They give the useful clue, route, or concession without becoming the plot. A safe way home ends Nettle's fight before it starts.
- Block4: One scene-level clue or route, phrased plainly. The ambushers are not all enforcers. Use this backup as a scene seed only: one clue, one pressure, one human face, then return agency to the PCs. Afraid of all companies because company names arrive before people disappear. The ambushers are not all enforcers. The ambushers are not all enforcers. Any PC can engage; never make the plot depend on the summoned backup. Protected by Rye, scolded by Kett, and quietly admired by Brannic.
