

Old Gregor

Player-facing description

An old dwarf-miner skeleton wears a battered cap, a corroded locket, and brass charms over a beard that somehow still remembers its braid.

Public role

The proof that under every soul-debt skeleton there was once a whole person.

Handout text

Player-safe note: A lucid old skeleton with a broken badge, a remembered trade, and one name he still protects.

GM truth

He remembers one family face clearly and hides from the rest because loss hurts even dead.

GM handling

Undead mercy beat, soul-debt seed, or combat de-escalation.

Mechanics

- Title: Social / Information Mechanics
- Player Safe: Players can interact, comfort, persuade, or earn trust Old Gregor when it is present in the fiction.
- Gm Only: Use the roll only when the player's method, stakes, and consequence are concrete.
- No Roll Reveals: Surface read: A lucid old skeleton with a broken badge, a remembered trade, and one name he still protects. Give obvious visible facts freely; roll for meaning, risk, leverage, cost, or a hidden angle.
- Rolls: entity-old-gregor-engage-old-gregor entity-old-gregor Engage Old Gregor Engage Old Gregor Presence Knowledge Instinct Presence Knowledge, Instinct 12 Choose the trait from the player's method, not the entity type. A flat read of Old Gregor hides the cost, motive, or useful next step. Critical Success: best possible version of the action; gain Hope and clear 1 Stress. Add an extra benefit that follows from the fiction. Success with Hope: the PC gets what they wanted and gains Hope. Keep the position clean or generous. Success with Fear: the PC gets what they wanted, but the GM gains Fear and introduces a cost, complication, or pressure. Failure with Hope: the PC does not get the full result, but gains Hope and receives a useful thread, clue, or safer next option. Failure with Fear: the PC fails and the GM gains Fear. Make a hard move that follows from the fiction. A flat read of Old...
- Fear Spends: Reveal who benefits from the current situation. Make the cost personal without closing off player agency.

- Block1: Old Gregor old GREG-er a lucid old skeleton who remembers one name and one debt The proof that under every soul-debt skeleton there was once a whole person. A combatant who can be reached with a name instead of a weapon; remembering him is the real victory. He is lucid in flashes. Say his trade, his family, or his name, and the command loosens its grip. A way forward A grounded question A scene-specific clue seed Caught between an old labor loop and a flickering memory of being a man. Someone willing to tell him his life mattered more than the balance.

Have someone say his trade, family, and name mattered more than the balance. A gentle ghost of a craftsman wearing a soldier's command like ill-fitting borrowed clothes. Carries a carved toy with one missing wheel. Wants, beneath the whole weight of the debt, only to remember enough of his life to stop obeying it. I was a carpenter before the badge. Tell me that matters. He remembers one family face clearly and hides from the rest because loss hurts even dead. Forgetting the last face and becoming only a useful skeleton. Carpenter's measures, mine songs, patient questions, and someone touching tools with respect. Orders barked in company cadence and being called it. Carpenter's measures, mine songs...
- Block3: Gregor expects the living to either fear him or use him. Kindness and remembrance reach him; Presence 12 with a name, trade, or family token can open the person-layer. Presence 12 They give the useful clue, route, or concession without becoming the plot. Remind him who he was and give him permission to stop.
- Block4: One scene-level clue or route, phrased plainly. A former person remains under the debt shape. Use this backup as a scene seed only: one clue, one pressure, one human face, then return agency to the PCs. The clearest face of Kazrak/Soulspire debt-as-ownership, but seed it through his own life. A former person remains under the debt shape. A former person remains under the debt shape. Any PC can engage; never make the plot depend on the summoned backup.
