

Sealed Keystone Crate

Player-facing description

A sealed crate sits in the back of the carriage, heavier than it looks, banded shut, and unmarked. You're told three things: it is important, you are not to open it, and it goes to the village.

Public role

The sealed package the party is hired to escort

Handout text

The package is sealed and important. Deliver it. Do not open it.

GM truth

This is the container around the Keystone Asset, but the Prologue must never put that name in player-facing text.

GM handling

Make the mystery physical without solving it. The crate is a job constraint first and a reveal later.
