Player questions

- What detail in Eyes in the Brush tells you the official story is incomplete?
- Who notices the human cost first, and how do they show it?
- What small object, smell, or sound makes this scene feel real?

GM notes

- If Strixwolf Mercy applies, her distant warning cry can grant advantage here.
- Keep player-facing information actionable. Reveal systemic truth through objects, reactions, and consequences before naming it.
- Manufactured-threat lens: seed the contradiction, do not explain it. The surface goal stays simple and heroic.

Checks and rolls

- Instinct Spot the scout net before it closes. Standard Avoid surprise or identify a negotiation angle. 15 Cleanly resolve: Spot the scout net before it closes. Add a concrete boon, extra clue, or improved position. Success, plus the player names one helpful detail or asks one follow-up question. Success, but the GM exposes a cost, ticks a countdown, or reveals a new pressure tied to Eyes in the Brush. The full goal slips, but the party still learns a useful truth or avoids the worst consequence. The GM makes a hard move that follows from the fiction and leaves the next choice visible. Spend Fear to close the ambush net, threaten the Keystone route, or force a choice between cargo and mercy. On mixed or sliding results, reveal information in layers: visible fact, actionable clue, then systemic truth.

Clues

- Signal knots An ambush is near. They planned for cargo, not slaughter. The watchers coordinate by tied bramble markers.

Loot

- Hidden boot track
