A route or ritualized path where fire becomes both danger and logistics credential in Sablewood's local economy. The Fire Walk smells of ash, resin, and ritualized courage, a path where heat is both danger and credential. The Fire Walk is a practical hazard turned local ritual: hot stones, safety ropes, heat vents, sweating travelers, and a weird pride about crossing properly. The place breaks into usable table spaces: Cool staging stones: People gather courage before the heat. Vent path: Heat vents create timing and route pressure. Rest pocket: A safe middle space lets players breathe. Plants and materials: heat flowers, ash moss, red-edged grasses. Animals and background life: heat lizards, ash beetles, bold little birds that steal cooled crumbs. The air carries heat shimmer, stone tick, sweat, sudden flame blossoms. Heat vents pulse, plants bloom in warm cracks, insects graze ash moss, and locals read the crossing by rhythm. What people can get here...
