- Long Storyboard: This scene lets players ask questions, be charmed by Hush, and connect the delivery to people rather than a destination. Run this scene as community stakes and emotional buy-in: Local clues make the infrastructure failure personal and specific. Keep the camera close to practical choices, visible consequences, and the difference between ordinary people and the infrastructure pressing on them.
- Read Aloud: Every person you meet seems to have an opinion, a custom, or a small gift to press into your hands.
- Gm Notes: Use NPCs to deliver warmth, directions, and hints of dependence on the ward. Keep player-facing information actionable. Reveal systemic truth through objects, reactions, and consequences before naming it. If someone abuses hospitality, Sablewood can answer through local custom and dryad justice without making Hush cruel. Manufactured-threat lens: seed the contradiction, do not explain it. The surface goal stays simple and heroic. [ADD/EARNED] An elder says, "The wood was never this bad. The trouble came with the waymarkers." (Presence Easy 10) [ADD/EARNED] A ledger shows protection costs and hazard sightings climbing together. (Knowledge Medium 15)
- Sensory Details: old smoke in rafters mended nets drying in windows ward chimes one note flat
- Body Language: Fidget over-explains when nervous Halython answers direct questions and ignores corporate phrasing
- Sample Dialogue: Fidget I can show you the nice path, the fast path, and the path adults pretend I do not know.
- Checks: Presence or Instinct Earn local detail without interrogating people like witnesses. Easy to standard Reveal safer route and ward symptoms. 10/15 Cleanly resolve: Earn local detail without interrogating people like witnesses. Add a concrete boon, extra clue, or improved position. Success, plus the player names one helpful detail or asks one follow-up question. Success, but the GM exposes a cost, ticks a countdown, or reveals a new pressure tied to Local Clues. The full goal slips, but the party still learns a useful truth or avoids the worst consequence. The GM makes a hard move that follows from the fiction and leaves the next choice visible. Spend Fear to make trust cost time, reveal a local fear, or show a ward symptom that locals have normalized. On mixed or sliding results, reveal information in layers: visible fact, actionable clue, then systemic truth.
- Choices Consequences: Listen more than talk Gain trust and better directions. Hush Trust improves. Treat locals as obstacles They still help, but only enough. Final stakes feel colder.

- Loot: Safe path directions Festival ribbon Moss antiseptic Bugbane Berry?: A fat red-orange berry shines a little too perfectly, with a tiny insect suspended dead-center like a pit in amber. It looks appetizing and deeply wrong. Lucent Water?: A corked bottle glows moonlit blue from inside, even in daylight, even in your pack. The water looks calm enough to sell itself.

- Relationship Prompts: Which PC quietly checks on someone else here? Who disagrees about the right thing to do without breaking trust?
- Ownership Prompt: Name one detail in Local Clues that belongs to your character's point of view.
- Reveal Hooks: Loreborne or Knowledge-focused PCs can read the institutional layer. Wildborne/community-focused PCs can read local custom and ecological stress. Martial/security-focused PCs can read threat posture and custody logic. Magic-focused PCs can feel ward tone, soul-signal, or spell instability. Loreborne: spots older legal, heraldic, or ward-craft language under the branding. Underborne: notices service doors, hidden routes, and who built the thing nobody credits. Highborne: reads etiquette, class panic, and reputational risk. Ridgeborne: notices stonework, weight, pressure, and structural weakness. Wildborne: reads the land, animals, and local ecological stress. Elf/Ribbet/Human/Giant/Katari: invite one sensory or social detail from the player's heritage. Sorcerer/Rogue/Warrior/Guardian/Ranger: give each class one table-facing way to shine without changing the plot.
- Fear Spends: Spend Fear to make trust cost time, reveal a local fear, or show a ward symptom that locals have normalized. Make trust cost time, humility, or a public apology. Show a ward symptom locals have normalized because nobody official listened.
- Story Scope: Perceived antagonist: the forest. True antagonist: the corporate lie about the forest. The players never confront it directly. They are meant to feel it by the end. Every act offers at least one guaranteed and one earned hint that the danger is manufactured and the forest is not the enemy. A Grail "Protection Coverage" invoice hangs on the Clover Co-op wall, overdue and steep. ADD GUARANTEED Firstmoss and the Sunless Farms show the forest feeding Hush rather than hunting it.
