- Long Storyboard: This is where the village becomes lovable. Shoes on the line, polished gifts, music, food, and local ritual should make the players want to save this place. Run this scene as community stakes and emotional buy-in: The Clover Co-op gives the party hospitality, texture, and reasons to care. Keep the camera close to practical choices, visible consequences, and the difference between ordinary people and the infrastructure pressing on them.
- Read Aloud: The Clover Co-op climbs six stories up an ancient tree. The room smells of bread, moss tea, old wood, and somebody's terrible but enthusiastic fiddle.
- Gm Notes: Let players invent one cozy custom. Fold it into the epilogue. Keep player-facing information actionable. Reveal systemic truth through objects, reactions, and consequences before naming it. Manufactured-threat lens: seed the contradiction, do not explain it. The surface goal stays simple and heroic. [ADD/GUARANTEED] A Grail "Protection Coverage" invoice hangs on the Clover Co-op wall, overdue and steep.
- Sensory Details: tea steam pressed clover paper chairs that do not match but are all repaired

- Sample Dialogue: Yera Mossglass We do not have much spare. That is different from having nothing to give.
- Checks: Presence Accept hospitality without turning it into extraction. Easy Gain gifts and a Custodian warning. 10 Cleanly resolve: Accept hospitality without turning it into extraction. Add a concrete boon, extra clue, or improved position. Success, plus the player names one helpful detail or asks one follow-up question. Success, but the GM exposes a cost, ticks a countdown, or reveals a new pressure tied to The Clover Co-op. The full goal slips, but the party still learns a useful truth or avoids the worst consequence. The GM makes a hard move that follows from the fiction and leaves the next choice visible. Spend Fear to make trust cost time, reveal a local fear, or show a ward symptom that locals have normalized. On mixed or sliding results, reveal information in layers: visible fact, actionable clue, then systemic truth.
- Choices Consequences: Share what happened on the road Locals respond with grief and practical help. Hush Trust improves. Hide the truth Avoid panic now; lose credibility if facts surface. Epilogue gets cooler.
- Clues: Custodian warning Be kind to her. This unlocks a warmer Act Four. She is tired of being rushed and called a function. Guaranteed seed A Grail "Protection Coverage" invoice hangs on the Clover Co-op wall, overdue and steep. A Grail

 - Sableleaf Shoes: A pair of shoes sewn entirely from broad sablewood leaves sits light as breath, green-veined, and already leaning toward motion.
 - Bugbane Berry?: A fat red-orange berry shines a little too perfectly, with a tiny insect suspended dead-center like a pit in amber. It looks appetizing and deeply wrong.
 - Sable Sap: Warm amber sap beads from a crack in a huge trunk like the tree is breathing it out. It smells of honey, woodsmoke, and something older.
 - Fire Wine?: A strong golden liquor sloshes in a thick jug, warm going down and warmer staying there. A paper tag insists it is not made from grapes and is absolutely not medicinal.

- Ownership Prompt: Name one detail in The Clover Co-op that belongs to your character's point of view.
- Reveal Hooks: Loreborne or Knowledge-focused PCs can read the institutional layer. Wildborne/community-focused PCs can read local custom and ecological stress. Martial/security-focused PCs can read threat posture and custody logic. Magic-focused PCs can feel ward tone, soul-signal, or spell instability. Loreborne: spots older legal, heraldic, or ward-craft language under the branding. Underborne: notices service doors, hidden routes, and who built the thing nobody credits. Highborne: reads etiquette, class panic, and reputational risk. Ridgeborne: notices stonework, weight, pressure, and structural weakness. Wildborne: reads the land, animals, and local ecological stress. Elf/Ribbet/Human/Giant/Katari: invite one sensory or social detail from the player's heritage. Sorcerer/Rogue/Warrior/Guardian/Ranger: give each class one table-facing way to shine without changing the plot.
- Fear Spends: Spend Fear to make trust cost time, reveal a local fear, or show a ward symptom that locals have normalized. Make trust cost time, humility, or a public apology. Show a ward symptom locals have normalized because nobody official listened.
- Story Scope: Perceived antagonist: the forest. True antagonist: the corporate lie about the forest. The players never confront it directly. They are meant to feel it by the end. Every act offers at least one guaranteed and one earned hint that the danger is manufactured and the forest is not the enemy.
