Run this scene as mentor-custodian truth reveal: The Keystone Asset stops being cargo and becomes a communal protection problem. Keep the camera close to practical choices, visible consequences, and the difference between ordinary people and the infrastructure pressing on them.
- Read Aloud: Inside the sealed crate is a massive stone with a lion's face carved into it. The room goes quiet before anyone speaks.
- Gm Notes: This is where Marlowe realizes how much was withheld from her too, unless you want her to know already. Keep player-facing information actionable. Reveal systemic truth through objects, reactions, and consequences before naming it. Manufactured-threat lens: seed the contradiction, do not explain it. The surface goal stays simple and heroic. [KEEP/GUARANTEED] The sealed package is the capital's ward Keystone; the city is unwarded while it is away. [ADD/SEED] "Your capital's safety is older than your contracts. It is the very thing they teach you to fear." [ADD/EARNED] The Keystone's magic is pre-corporate forest-ward work, the same school companies call primitive. (Knowledge Hard 20)
- Sensory Details: stone heartbeat ward lines brightening under dust a low tone felt in teeth
- Body Language: Marlowe looks guilty before she looks relieved The Custodian touches the crate like an apology
- Sample Dialogue: Whitefire Custodian They called it an asset because 'borrowed safety' tested poorly in stakeholder review.
- Checks: Knowledge Understand the ward-stone without changing module mechanics. Standard The party learns what must be defended. 15 Cleanly resolve: Understand the ward-stone without changing module mechanics. Add a concrete boon, extra clue, or improved position. Success, plus the player names one helpful detail or asks one follow-up question. Success, but the GM exposes a cost, ticks a countdown, or reveals a new pressure tied to The Keystone Reveal. The full goal slips, but the party still learns a useful truth or avoids the worst consequence. The GM makes a hard move that follows from the fiction and leaves the next choice visible. Spend Fear to expose neglected infrastructure, stress the Custodian, or make the Keystone hum at the wrong moment. On mixed or sliding results, reveal information in layers:

visible fact, actionable clue, then systemic truth.

- Choices Consequences: Accept the broader duty The party pivots from delivery to protection. Ward Stability track opens. Stay narrowly hired Still proceed, but framed as risk management. Epilogue may challenge them.
- Clues: Keystone pulse The crate protects Hush. Corporate custody is administratively convenient, not morally clean. It responds to ward stress, not ownership. - Player Questions: What detail in The Keystone Reveal tells you the official story is incomplete? Who notices the human cost first, and how do they show it? What small object, smell, or sound makes this scene feel real?
- Relationship Prompts: Which PC quietly checks on someone else here? Who disagrees about the right thing to do without breaking trust?
- Ownership Prompt: Name one detail in The Keystone Reveal that belongs to your character's point of view.
- Reveal Hooks: Loreborne or Knowledge-focused PCs can read the institutional layer. Wildborne/community-focused PCs can read local custom and ecological stress. Martial/security-focused PCs can read threat posture and custody logic. Magic-focused PCs can feel ward tone, soul-signal, or spell instability. Loreborne: spots older legal, heraldic, or ward-craft language under the branding. Underborne: notices service doors, hidden routes, and who built the thing nobody credits. Highborne: reads etiquette, class panic, and reputational risk. Ridgeborne: notices stonework, weight, pressure, and structural weakness. Wildborne: reads the land, animals, and local ecological stress. Elf/Ribbet/Human/Giant/Katari: invite one sensory or social detail from the player's heritage. Sorcerer/Rogue/Warrior/Guardian/Ranger: give each class one table-facing way to shine without changing the plot.
- Fear Spends: Spend Fear to expose neglected infrastructure, stress the Custodian, or make the Keystone hum at the wrong moment. Make neglected infrastructure answer at the wrong moment. Stress the Custodian's trust without turning her into a device.
- Story Scope: Perceived antagonist: the forest. True antagonist: the corporate lie about the forest. The players never confront it directly. They are meant to feel it by the end. Every act offers at least one guaranteed and one earned hint that the danger is manufactured and the forest is not the enemy. The sealed package is the
