- Alt: Old Sable location map board.
- Caption: Visual reference for Old Sable.
- Mood: spatial reference and location texture
- Gmgoal: Reuse Old Sable as GM-only hidden-hook backdrop without turning it into an epilogue destination.
- Publicobjective: Older stones sit half-hidden near the path, weathered enough that nobody here could have made them recently.
- Readaloud: Older stones sit half-hidden near the path, weathered enough that nobody here could have made them recently.
- Gmnotes: Old Sable is epilogue proof-texture only if players are already asking the right question.
- Gmscript: Say only if earned: "Some of the oldest stones never looked like company work. That may matter more than anyone wanted to admit."
- Gmreadaloud: Old stones under moss. Older than signs, maps, or route names.
- Gmchecklist: Keep player-facing use minimal. Do not expose the thesis. Preserve Act 4 map edge. Do not create a route or encounter.
- Gmprivate: Deep hidden-hook backdrop: the protection was captured and branded later. Let players infer; do not state the conclusion first.
- Playertakeaway: Older stones sit half-hidden near the path, weathered enough that nobody here could have made them recently.
- Storytakeaway: Old Sable can support a player-led hidden pattern without becoming a new scene.
- Mechanictakeaway: Knowledge or Instinct can confirm old texture;

hidden_hook_discovered is set only if players articulate the pattern.

Ancient trunks lean over the road until the sky becomes a thin green seam; old stones and moss shelves guide travel better than signs. Leaf-drip, distant wingbeats, branches rubbing like low speech, and bird calls that restart behind the party but not ahead. Cold rain on leaves, fungal sweetness, sap, wet bark, and the musk of unseen animals moving through root-shadow. Bark leaves dark moisture and gold-brown pollen on fingers; the road shifts from springy moss to slick clay underfoot. Owls, insects, and small ground...

- Gmbeats: MAP-LOC-old-sable-texture Texture Older stones Say: "Keep it as a glimpse, not a branch." Older stones show the forest has history under the current route. The place feels older than its current framing. Knowledge can read texture without resolving canon. Players get texture only. Player takeaway Players get texture only. "Keep it as a glimpse, not a branch." "The playable fact is: Older stones show the forest has history under the current route." Concrete actions for this beat: look closely, ask the Custodian a direct question, commit to a choice, or take one prep action. knowledge Story takeaway The place feels older than its current framing. "Keep it as a glimpse, not a branch." "The story fact in play is: The place feels older than its current framing." This beat changes Act 4 through this exact pressure: The place feels older than its current framing. knowledge Mechanic takeaway Knowledge can read texture without resolving canon. "Keep it as a glimpse, not a branch." "The active procedure is: Knowledge can read texture without resolving canon." Run intent first. Use Presence for trust, Knowledge for ward or stone truths, Instinct for preserve danger, and Agility or Finesse...

- Takeawayhelp: Player takeaway Old Sable is texture until Kyle rules. "You see older stones near the path, but the route keeps moving." "A Knowledge read can say old ward-stone, not what Old Sable means." No new Act 4 branch comes from this map. knowledge instinct Story takeaway The forest has older layers. "This place did not begin with the people currently naming it." "That is the player-safe texture. The canon answer is locked." Keep the sense of age without inventing history. knowledge instinct Mechanic takeaway The mechanic is bounded discovery. "Knowledge 13 gives texture only. No side route opens." "Return to the hanging home after the read."

This protects the open question and prevents lore sprawl. knowledge instinct
