Make materials feel handled by people, not listed in a setting gazetteer. Layered cuts expose pale ash, black stone, and root veins. Tools are wrapped to keep dust out of grips and lungs. The best ash is not the cleanest ash. Leaf-drip, insects, distant wingbeats, and animal calls that stop or resume according to pressure, not comfort. Dry ash, hot stone, bitter smoke, and sweat trapped in cloth masks. Dust coats skin instantly; stone is warm under shade. The forest is populated even when no NPC is present; silence, birds, insects, and tracks are actionable signals. Layered cuts expose pale ash, black stone, and root veins.
