The Catcher's Cradles make vertical danger look routine: suspended nets, rescue platforms, and the quiet pride of people who catch mistakes for a living. Show the labor beneath adventurous travel. Cradle nets hang under steep routes and loading shelves. Rescue ropes are marked by hand, not by corporate color code. The newest net is placed where the official route says no fall should happen. Leaf-drip, insects, distant wingbeats, and animal calls that stop or resume according to pressure, not comfort. Rope hemp, rain, old sweat, and crushed leaves caught in net fibers. Net cords are scratchy and waxed; platforms flex under weight. The forest is populated even when no NPC is present; silence, birds, insects, and tracks are actionable signals.
