The Fire Walk smells of ash, resin, and ritualized courage, a path where heat is both danger and credential. Make heat tactile, respectful, and consequential. Blackened stones mark a route through controlled flame scars. Offerings, boot marks, and old safety hooks line the edges. Some burns are ceremonial; others are accidents nobody rebranded. Leaf-drip, insects, distant wingbeats, and animal calls that stop or resume according to pressure, not comfort. Hot resin, ash, singed moss, and sweat. Stones hold heat long after flame passes; ash coats fingers in fine gray layers. The forest is populated even when no NPC is present; silence, birds, insects, and tracks are actionable signals.
