

S01-02 - The Overturned Vendor Cart

Player text

Your steeds haul the carriage around a tight bend and stop hard. The path ahead is blocked: a vendor cart lies overturned, its fruit, vegetables, and spilled preserves scattered across the trail. Something has been feeding here. The air is wrong: sweet rot and something underneath it, coppery. From the far side of the cart, you hear wet, unhurried movement.

Public objective

- Alt: The Overturned Vendor Cart scene art for The Logistics Incident.
- Caption: The overturned cart gives the party a mystery before it gives them a fight.
- Mood: The Logistics Incident
- Gmgoal: Block the road with a wrecked vendor cart, let the table read the scene, and plant that the obvious animal story does not add up.
- Publicobjective: Figure out what happened here and clear the road.
- Readaloud: Your steeds haul the carriage around a tight bend and stop hard. The path ahead is blocked: a vendor cart lies overturned, its fruit, vegetables, and spilled preserves scattered across the trail. Something has been feeding here. The air is wrong: sweet rot and something underneath it, coppery. From the far side of the cart, you hear wet, unhurried movement.
- Gmnotes: Use the wreck as an investigation scene first and a creature reveal second. Player-safe language: body, feeding, blade wound. GM-only truth: staged murder and later Bramble connection.
- Gmscript: Say: "The carriage stops hard. Ahead of you is a wreck, a body, and something feeding just out of sight. You can rush toward the sound, but you have time to look first. What do you check?" If someone checks the body, say: "The feeding is messy, but the killing wound is clean. This was not done by claws." If they need the roll, call Knowledge or Instinct, Difficulty 12.
- Gmreadaloud: The path ahead is blocked: a vendor cart lies overturned, its fruit, vegetables, and spilled preserves scattered across the trail. Something has been feeding here. Sweet rot hangs over the copper smell of blood. From the far side of the cart, you hear wet, unhurried movement.

- Gmchecklist: Offer investigation before the creature fully reveals. Gate the slit-throat truth behind Garrick's passive read or a Knowledge/Instinct 12 check. Seed the deliberate bramble in the wheel if Barnacle searches the cart. Move to S01-03 when they approach the far side, try to clear the cart, or make enough noise to draw the creature out.
- Gmprivate: The driver was murdered with a blade, then the scene was staged to read as a forest attack. The creature is scavenging. It did not make the killing wound. The bramble in the wheel foreshadows the later ambush. Seed it; do not explain it.
- Playertakeaway: Someone is dead, the road is blocked, and something alive is feeding on the other side of the cart.
- Storytakeaway: The wreck looks like a wild-animal attack, but the clean wound and staged cart point to a person behind the violence.
- Mechanictakeaway: Investigation begins with what a PC examines; roll Knowledge or Instinct only when the answer is uncertain or gated.

- Playerquestions: What detail in The Overturned Vendor Cart tells you the official story is incomplete? Who notices the human cost first, and how do they show it? What small object, smell, or sound makes this scene feel real? What cheerful warning sign did your character dismiss as marketing copy before realizing it was true?
- Relationshipprompts: Which PC quietly checks on someone else here? Who disagrees about the right thing to do without breaking trust?
- Ownershipprompt: Name one detail in The Overturned Vendor Cart that belongs to your character's point of view.
- Fearsponds: Spend Fear to separate true evidence from a tempting false read, or put the carriage/cargo under time pressure. Make the safe road feel less safe: noise, scent, cracked wheel, or cargo hum. Separate evidence from assumption so a monster read is tempting but incomplete.
- Choicesconsequences: Investigate carefully More clues, less surprise pressure. Bramble Union feels discoverable. Rush to blame the creature The moral test tightens. Strixwolf Blood Debt becomes possible.
- Lootclues: Use Vendor Cart and Tamsin Vell search tables Keystone Asset?: Inside the sealed crate, packed in wax-paper and reassurance, sits a heavy grey stone the size of a loaf, warm to the touch, faintly humming, with a light deep inside it that is slowly going out. Incident Response Placard?: A flat brass disc on a post holds a watchful glyph and a single cheerful bell. When trouble happens nearby, the glyph lights, the bell rings once, brightly, and then nothing else happens at all. Sableblade: Growing straight up out of dark forest soil, like a sapling that decided to be a sword, is a blade of living dark wood and pale metal. It has no maker's mark and hums when your hand nears the hilt. Recall Stone: A smooth grey pebble feels warm and ordinary until it refuses to stay where you put it. Set it down, look away, and it waits back in your palm. Goldwater Liability Token?: A heavy brass chit with a smiling coin-face drops into your palm like a tiny verdict. The fine print is too small to read without feeling blamed.

- Percharacterlayer: varian-soto Varian Soto Heightened smell at the wreck The blood under the sweet-rot smell is older than the creature's feeding. Other PCs just smell that something is wrong. Instinct 12 Places animal musk as recent, human blood as older, and a faint chemical-leather tang that belongs to neither. - Takeawayhelp: Player takeaway Someone is dead, the road is blocked, and something alive is feeding on the other side of the cart. "Three facts: someone is dead, the road is blocked, and something is eating on the other side of that cart. What do you do?" "You can search the cart, approach the body, listen to the thing feeding, hang back and watch, or ask another PC what they notice." Give the table four concrete entry points: cart, body, sound, or position. This prevents the scene from becoming a single forced monster reveal. roleplay table-spotlight Story takeaway The wreck looks like a wild-animal attack, but the clean wound and staged cart point to a person behind the violence. "At first glance, this reads like the kind of forest attack the company warns about. The closer you look, the less clean that story gets." "The obvious answer is a creature attack. The discoverable answer is that the driver was killed with a blade first. Knowledge or Instinct 12 confirms it." Do not name the later faction connection to players. Let the first fact stand: animal scavenging is true, but animal murder is false. knowledge instinct Mechanic takeaway Investigation begins with what a PC examines; roll...
