

S02-03 - The Ambush

Player text

Four figures rise from the brush in a clatter of breaking branches: ragged, wiry, armored in lashed river-stone and thorn. Their blades are mismatched, half of them salvaged. A fifth hangs back, sharper-eyed, clearly the one giving orders. They do not whoop or charge. They block the road, weapons up, like people who hate that it has come to this. "The cargo," the leader says. "Hand it over and you walk."

Public objective

Survive the ambush and protect the carriage and the package.

- Caption: The road ambush should feel dangerous and understandable at the same time.
- Mood: Cargo Reclaimers
- Gmgoal: Run the ambush as a dangerous moral choice: fight, defend, flee, surrender, or talk it down.
- Publicobjective: Survive the ambush and protect the carriage and the package.
- Readaloud: Four figures rise from the brush in a clatter of breaking branches: ragged, wiry, armored in lashed river-stone and thorn. Their blades are mismatched, half of them salvaged. A fifth hangs back, sharper-eyed, clearly the one giving orders. They do not whoop or charge. They block the road, weapons up, like people who hate that it has come to this. "The cargo," the leader says. "Hand it over and you walk."
- Gmnotes: The leader does not want a massacre. Use Back Off to create space and panic, not to punish parley. A downed ambusher can be spared without a roll; that lowers social difficulty.
- Gmscript: Say: "They want the cargo, not your lives. You can fight, defend the carriage, run, surrender the package, or talk while weapons are up. If you talk, make the case in character and roll Presence against Difficulty 15." If they ask who they are and the conversation earns it, have the leader say: "We're the Bramble Union. We didn't used to be thieves."
- Gmreadaloud: Four figures rise from the brush in a clatter of breaking branches: ragged, wiry, armored in lashed river-stone and thorn. A fifth hangs back, sharpereyed, clearly the one giving orders. "The cargo," the leader says. "Hand it over and you walk."

- Gmchecklist: Apply ambushAwareness from S02-02. Explicitly offer parley as a live action. Use Presence 15 for de-escalation; lower it for mercy, spared foes, or strong leverage. Record `bramble_outcome` using existing enum: killed, captured, spared, negotiated, escaped. Do not say Keystone Asset in player-facing text.
- Gmprivate: The self-name is earned through dialogue. The public/corporate label remains Cargo Reclaimers until that moment. Their salvaged gear points to former company people, but do not over-explain the hidden plot in combat. If players choose slaughter, they win the fight and lose the easiest route to the truth.
- Playertakeaway: You can win this with steel, restraint, surrender, or words, and the choice defines who the party is.
- Storytakeaway: The attackers are desperate people who want the cargo more than blood; their humanity is visible before their story is clear.
- Mechanictakeaway: This combat tracks an outcome, not a body count: Presence de-escalation, non-lethal choices, and `bramble_outcome` all matter.

- Playerquestions: What detail in Bramble Union Ambush tells you the official story is incomplete? Who notices the human cost first, and how do they show it? What small object, smell, or sound makes this scene feel real? What detail on a reclamer's gear makes them look like a craftsman from a hidden community rather than a disposable bandit?
- Relationshipprompts: Which PC quietly checks on someone else here? Who disagrees about the right thing to do without breaking trust?
- Ownershipprompt: Name one detail in Bramble Union Ambush that belongs to your character's point of view.
- Fearsponds: Spend Fear to close the ambush net, threaten the Keystone route, or force a choice between cargo and mercy. Close the ambush net or put a PC between cargo and a frightened reclamer. Reveal a personal effect that makes victory emotionally complicated.
- Choicesconsequences: Fight to kill The road clears, but survivors and truth routes close. S02-04 reveals only dropped gear and personal effects; location maps stay locked. Non-lethal force keeps dialogue possible. Parley Presence 15 can end or thin the fight. S02-04 can set bramble_truth_learned and unlock location maps. A failed parley still exposes reluctance and may reduce casualties if backed by mercy. Let them take the package The fight can end without blood, but the job breaks open. Act 3 begins from recovery, pursuit, or negotiation pressure rather than simple delivery. Defending the carriage keeps the contract intact but may cost lives. Spare a downed ambusher No roll; the leader sees mercy. Presence difficulty drops and S02-04 trust opens faster. Ignoring the wounded keeps the scene colder even if the party wins.
- Lootclues: Use Bramble Union Ambushers and Claimrunner loot tables Bramble Union Stoneweave: A garment of thousands of tiny polished stones moves like cloth and turns thorns like armor. Every fitted piece looks cut by hands that loved the work. Vial of Briarpowder: A small stoppered vial holds fine grey-green thorn powder that seems to drink the light. A blade edge near it looks sharper and hungrier. Bramble Ward-Scrap Charm Cluster: A knot of blue ward shards, twine, and tiny salvage tags clacks softly at a Bramblefolk belt. It looks illegal only because it looks useful. Claimrunner Serrated Blade: A short serrated blade shows careful filing along the back edge and a handle wrapped in road cord. It is ugly in the practical way of a tool that has never had a decorative day.

"Blade, bargain, shield, or surrender - all of those can end this. Pick the one your character can live with." "You can attack, protect the carriage, try Presence 15 to talk them down, spare a downed attacker, run, or hand over the package and deal with the fallout." Make all exits real.
