

Connection Prompts

What it is

Short relationship questions that build party history with consent.

How it works

Use before play to create one or two playable relationships between PCs.

Step by step

- Use before play to create one or two playable relationships between PCs.
- One player offers a memory or relationship prompt; the other player answers from their character's point of view.
- Return to the fiction with the concrete result, cost, or benefit.

Try it

How do connections work?

Raw source

- Id: connection-prompts
- Title: Connection Prompts
- Tag: table-tool
- Summary: Short relationship questions that build party history with consent.
- When: Use before play to create one or two playable relationships between PCs.
- Not When: Do not write another player's character; offer, then let them accept, clarify, complicate, soften, or pass.
- Question: How do connections work?
- Answer: One player offers a memory or relationship prompt; the other player answers from their character's point of view.
- Example: Marlowe asks: 'I owe you a favor. What happened, and why have I not repaid it yet?'
- Related: roleplay table-spotlight
- Aliases: Connections connection prompt connection prompts
- Source: Official SRD / local quickstart reference. Use private full-rulebook material only at the table.
- Mechanic Profile: mechanic-profile-v1 connection-prompts Connection Prompts Connections connection prompt connection prompts Connection Prompts session-zero #adaptation Beginner roleplay table-spotlight Session Zero primer roleplay table-spotlight Short relationship questions that build party history with consent. One player offers a memory or relationship prompt; the other player answers from their character's point of view. Use before play to create one or two playable relationships between PCs. Connection Prompts: Short relationship questions that build party history with consent. Use before play to create one or two playable relationships between PCs. One player offers a memory or relationship prompt; the other player answers from their character's point of view. Return to the fiction with the concrete result, cost, or benefit. Marlowe asks: 'I owe you a favor. What happened, and why have I not repaid it yet?' Marlowe asks: 'I owe you a favor. What happened, and why have I not repaid it yet?' How do connections work? Connection Prompts Connections connection prompt connection prompts roleplay table-spotlight Verified against local Daggerheart rules packet and Mechanic System Packet...

- Canon Status: #adaptation
- Category: session-zero

Export Stamp

Build 2026-06-23T21:40:58 | Content hash abe30c44611fca8d | Source hash dac3370046ed077140fab2d6