- Mood: spatial reference and location texture
- Gmgoal: The climax. A perfect circular clearing ? the only break in the canopy ? where the Custodian first forged Hush's ward pillars. The party takes a Short Rest, then defends her through the ward-renewal ritual against waves of skeletons and Soul-Audit Wraiths while a countdown die ticks. Win condition: survive until the ritual completes, not "kill everything."
- Publicobjective: The trees break around an old clearing of standing stones, wet grass, and pale ward-light. Official markers call it Open Vale, but the place feels older than the paperwork and more awake than a ruin.
- Readaloud: The trees break around an old clearing of standing stones, wet grass, and pale ward-light. Official markers call it Open Vale, but the place feels older than the paperwork and more awake than a ruin.
- Gmnotes: Hub map: one place, multiple finale beats. Do not send players wandering into a new node.
- Gmscript: Say: "This is the finale hub. Use it for arrival, the Short Rest, the ritual start, the completion, and the transition to the report choice. Set the ritual countdown to 8. Each meaningful adversary defeat or pressure neutralized ticks it down by 1. Each Custodian hit or unprotected exposure ticks it up by 1. Clamp it between 0 and 10; at 0 the ward locks and the table moves to S05-07."

- Gmreadaloud: Open sky over old stones. The Custodian at the center. The whole finale circles this place.
- Gmchecklist: Use as finale hub, not a tactical grid. Route tactical skeleton pressure to MAP-S05-03. Route S05-06 completion to S05-07. Keep Open Vale(TM) GM-only.
- Gmprivate: Open Vale(TM) is a GM-side registration joke. Player text stays warm: Open Vale, old clearing, ritual site.
- Playertakeaway: The trees break around an old clearing of standing stones, wet grass, and pale ward-light. Official markers call it Open Vale, but the place feels older than the paperwork and more awake than a ruin.
- Storytakeaway: The finale hub keeps the whole ending sincere, spatially clear, and centered on protection.
- Mechanictakeaway: The hub links Short Rest, countdown start, countdown-zero release, and report-choice exit.

- Playerquestions: Where do you stand in the clearing? Who stays closest to the Custodian? Who reads the stones before the ritual starts?
- Fearsponds: Environment Feature ? Market Correction (canon): spend a Fear to summon two additional Legacy Skeletons from the ground within Very Close range of a PC. Use it to keep the countdown moving (skeletons die easily ? countdown ticks down on each defeat). The Wraiths' Memory Delve and Pass-Through are your big Fear spends ? use Pass-Through sparingly (it can lock a PC out; if the whole party goes Untethered they all mark 2 HP and snap back). Spend Fear: the open sky flickers ? for one beat the stars rearrange wrongly (Forgotten Gods watching). Narrative dread, no mechanics.
- Choicesconsequences: Use the hub to choose finale positioning, rest, or report transition. The map clarifies the active table choice instead of becoming a side route. Use the map only when spatial clarity changes the next roll, countdown tick, or protection choice. The result carries forward through Act 5 state rather than adding a new branch. ritual_prep / report_choice Reward: clearer play. Cost: pause only long enough to orient the table. GM-facing
- Spoilers: GM-only location fields, combat notes, canon notes, and hidden-truth context stay off the player display.
